Part 2

Questions 6–10

For each question, choose the correct answer.

The young people below are looking for a day out with family or friends. On the opposite page there are descriptions of eight outdoor activity centres. Decide which activity centre would be the most suitable for the people below.

6

Julian wants to take pictures of wildlife but needs some advice. He likes to be near water and also wants somewhere that has outdoor eating facilities.

7

Marcie and her mum want to spend a day in a forest and get some exercise at the same time. They would like to be told about the wildlife there, and enjoy snacks and refreshments in comfort.

8

Mohammed wants a day full of activities including something that involves his two main interests, sport and animals. He also wants to try an art class and to stay for a night-time activity too.

9

Maria wants to be able to read about the wildlife and also to take pictures of trees and hills. She loves being outdoors and would like to try a watersport of some kind.

10

Ivan and his dad want an activity that involves seeing and hearing wildlife. They also want to do an adventure sport and to try food that comes directly from the local forest.

Outdoor Activity Centres

- A Bennachie Park is an area of great natural beauty and very popular with photographers and artists. There is a sculpture trail through the forest, and a famous waterfall, and both of these can be reached on foot or by mountain bike. You can hire bikes from the Visitor Centre.
- B Wilder Forest has a huge web of paths for walkers, runners and mountain bikers, and you can also do horse riding (booking required). There are beginners' sessions available in drawing nature with painter, John Small, and a new event that starts after dark will introduce you to the stars.
- C Strathmoor Forest Park is very popular both with people who want to enjoy relaxed walking and with birdwatchers who come to see rare birds found only in Strathmoor. There's a small café, and several picnic sites for those who prefer to bring their own food.
- D Thornielee Park is a wonderful place for a family day out with fantastic hilly walks, two large lakes, and many picnic sites where you can enjoy the views. It's popular with animal lovers and has daily bird-photography drop-in sessions with our expert, Sarah Wallis.
- E At Glengarry Forest, there is a new storytelling event for children, called 'Deep in the Forest'. Then there are many regular activities and events, including the ever-popular horse riding and night-time cycling with torches. The food at the Visitor Centre café is excellent and won a prize last year.
- F If you love nature, Innerleithen Forest is for you! There are several rare kinds of animals and birds, and a daily talk on them from an expert at the Visitor Centre. You can also get cosy in the café, which serves cake and warm drinks. Many people bring mountain bikes or you can hire them and go around the forest trails.
- G Boden Forest is excellent for walking and running, and there's also a 10-metre cliff face with climbing classes for beginners. A regular birdsong event takes place, including birdwatching from inside a special hut. Very popular for lunch is the food stall, serving mushrooms grown there and fish from Boden.
- H Kirroughtree Park has everything from a visitor centre – where you can pick up a free guide full of information about the plants and animals there – to a wonderful lake, where you can have a go at sailing. Short landscape photography sessions are also available.

Test 2

Part 3

Questions 11–15

For each question, choose the correct answer.

Rock the Planet

Music journalist Nick Hilman meets young actors from this popular musical show.

Rock the Planet, a musical show where actors also have to be really good musicians, opened in London last year, after five years in the USA, where it was voted 'Best Musical' four times! But doing the show with an all-British cast of actors was challenging. The UK puts more limits on how many performances young actors can do weekly – in the USA, they're allowed to do more shows. Because of this, twice as many actors were required here. Luckily, the director found plenty of talented UK-based actors, and they've just won their first 'Best Musical' award. Although the theatre in London is bigger than the US venue, it's been full every night, with everyone wanting to hear the songs that first became popular in America.

I met 11-year-old Jamie, one of the show's actors. 'It's brilliant that I get paid to play,' he said, 'especially a beautiful and expensive Gibson guitar.' He told me how busy the young actors are. 'We have normal school lessons each day at the theatre. While the teacher's great, I miss my old school mates.' And what do they think of the show? 'Well, my whole class came! The theatre does special deals on tickets for schools. They absolutely loved it and that made me feel really confident. My parents come when they can, but it's expensive for them,' he explained.

When I said I also play guitar, Jamie found a spare one and invited me to play along with him and the other young actors. We played Days, a song I wasn't familiar with. Jamie took me through it and I was very pleased with myself when I finally got it right. I was impressed by Jamie's ability and wished I had similar skills. I was just trying to keep up and was glad the show's director wasn't there to hear my mistakes!

While the young actors were already musicians, with some playing several instruments, none had played in a band before. Fortunately, they've found it pretty easy. Jamie admitted that the hard part was appearing natural when they first performed together. They were concentrating so much that they forgot to smile!

The show's on in London for another year, and is well worth seeing.

11 What is the difference between the shows in the UK and in the USA?

- A Fewer young actors were needed in America.
- B Brand new songs have been included in the UK.
- C The UK show has won more prizes.
- D Audiences were bigger in America.

12 What does Jamie say about working on the show?

- A He's glad that his family come daily to support him.
- B He's embarrassed when his friends come to watch him.
- C He's delighted that he's doing something that he loves.
- D He's anxious about the amount of schoolwork he's missing.

13 How did the writer feel about playing music with the actors?

- A surprised that he sounded as good as Jamie
- B satisfied that he had learned a new song
- C happy because they played his favourite tune
- D excited to be playing in front of the director

14 What did the actors find difficult about performing in the show?

- A having to play their instruments with other people
- B learning to play many new instruments very quickly
- C remembering the different songs they had to do
- D looking relaxed when they were playing on stage

15 What would an advertisement for the show say?

A

Come and enjoy this wonderful show while you can – tickets are selling fast as this is Rock the Planet's last month in the UK.

B

Book to see Rock the Planet for an experience to remember. Check the website for great prices for student groups.

C

You won't often see something as good as Rock the Planet – and with extra performers from America, the sound is even better than ever!

D

After its success in several countries around the world, Rock the Planet has now opened in the UK!

Questions 16–20

Five sentences have been removed from the text below.
For each question, choose the correct answer.
There are three extra sentences which you do not need to use.

A day in the life of an astronaut

Italian astronaut Samantha Cristoforetti talks about daily life on the International Space Station (ISS).

For the last few months, my home has been the International Space Station, orbiting 400 km above the surface of the earth, at 25,000 km per hour. We took off in a Russian Soyuz spaceship from Kazakhstan, and the flight to the Space Station took six hours.

16 I felt incredibly excited.

There are two Americans, three Russians, and me. 17 Fortunately, we all get on well. The day starts for everyone at 7 a.m. There's no gravity up here, so every morning I float through the cabin to attend our daily planning conference, or DPC. 18 It usually lasts a few minutes. After it's finished, we speak to space centres around the world, including Houston (USA), Munich (Germany) and Tsukuba (Japan).

Then we have breakfast: oatmeal, eggs and coffee. In the past, astronauts had to suck food out of tubes. Nowadays, astronauts' food is served in special individual boxes with covers. 19 Life has become much easier for astronauts over the years.

Our dinner is at around 7.30 p.m. My meals were prepared by an Italian chef on Earth before I left, and they're delicious. However, I do exchange a lot of food with my three colleagues from Russia.

20 Their lentil and vegetable soup is also really good. Of course I miss fresh food, but a cargo spaceship comes once a month with fresh fruit. When I get back down to Earth, I know I'll miss this place.

- A I'm the only woman in this group.
- B That was a very long time to live in space.
- C People often ask what food tastes like in space.
- D This stops everything floating away while we eat!
- E On the other hand, the ISS is a perfect environment to do scientific experiments.
- F That's the meeting where we discuss what needs to be done during the day.
- G They like my desserts, and they have a dark bread that I love.
- H I'll never forget looking through the window and seeing it for the first time.

 EMAIL

From:	Mr Smith
To:	English class
Subject:	End-of-term party

Dear English class,

Next month, we'll have our final English lesson of the term, so I'd like to organise a party for that day. What do you think of this idea?

We could either use the classroom or go to the park. Which place would be better for the party?

Can you suggest any fun activities for practising English during the party?

Also, it would be great if everyone could bring something to the party – please let me know what you can bring.

Many thanks,

James Smith
